Each year, financial burdens force countless promising students to drop out of college. At UC Blue Ash College, we're committed to ensuring that financial hardship doesn't get in the way of our students' dreams.

"We provided more than $85,000 in scholarships this past year and want to continue to grow the scholarship opportunities for our students," said Cady Short-Thompson, dean of UC Blue Ash. "This scholarship is such an important way to help make sure a deserving student can continue to pursue their education and their goals."
